

All Things Connect & Recovering Ground

Resipole Studios Fine Art Gallery is excited to present two environmentally themed exhibitions in the lead up to the COP26 climate change conference being held in Glasgow during November 2021.

In the main gallery space, All Things Connect is a group exhibition which brings together 11 different artists, including ceramicist Lotte Glob, painter Andrew Squire, glass artist Ise Stumpff and conceptual artist Richard Bracken, to name but a few. Each of the invited artists have strong environmental themes running through their work and were invited by the gallery to contribute pieces that explore and celebrate the interconnectedness of life on Earth.

In the upper gallery space, Recovering Ground is a collaboration between west of Scotland based sculptor Lucy Gray and writer Leonie Charlton. Over the past two years, in their joint practice, they have explored connection to landscape through visual, kinaesthetic and poetic languages which echoes the multi-sensorial experience of place. The work on display combines sculpture and poetry which has been created in response to being present in the landscape of the west coast of Scotland.

Both exhibitions open at the gallery on Sunday 24th October at 11am and there will be a chance to meet with some of the contributing artists between 1 and 4pm on the launch day.

Notes to Editor

Opening hours – Tuesday - Saturday 11am – 6pm; Sunday 11am-4pm; closed Mondays
Resipole Studios, Acharacle, Argyll, PH36 4HX
Tel: 01967 431506

For press images and further information, please contact info@resipolestudios.co.uk

All Things Connect and Recovering Ground open at Resipole Studios Fine Art Gallery on Sunday 24th October 2021 at 11am. Both exhibitions will be on display until Friday 3rd December 2021.

These exhibitions will also be available to view online at www.resipolestudios.co.uk/exhibitions

Full list of contributing artists for All Things Connect: Andrew Squire, Ise Stumpff, Georgia Murray, Lotte Glob, Anna Raven, Helen Michie, Jane Rushton, Kate Foster, Amy Marshall, Richard Bracken and Tamsin Cunningham.